

Global High Income Bond Fund (B1 Share Class)

Fund Objective and Policy The investment objective of the Fund is to seek to deliver a high level of income yield relative to the yield on US government treasury bonds, over the medium term, by investing in bond, debt and currency instruments in markets worldwide which may at the discretion of the Investment Manager include significant investment in Emerging Markets. A majority of the Fund's total assets will be invested in sovereign and sovereign-related bond, debt and currency instruments in either developed or emerging market countries.

Fund Commentary June's markets saw the US dollar stronger against all currencies; the euro, sterling, yen and EM currencies. Stock markets were up (S&P500 +2.22%) while 10 year US Treasury yields eased again from 1.59% to 1.47% per annum, continuing a meaningful decline from their peak three months ago. Local currency emerging market bonds returned -1.00% (bonds +0.15%, currencies -1.15%) and the Fund's A2 shares returned -0.73% for the month.

DM – The contribution from this area was -0.2%. The yen exposure, introduced a while ago as a hedge for global risk as well as a potential beneficiary of a weak dollar, contributed negatively as the dollar strengthened. We intend to maintain this exposure.

EM hard currency bonds – The contribution from this area was -0.1%. The Fund maintained its short position in HC risk and index HC CDS spreads were slightly tighter. Spreads are historically very tight and we intend to maintain this position as protection against global risk aversion.

EM local currency bonds – The contribution from this area was +0.5% with positive contributions from South Africa (+0.3%), Colombia (+0.2%), Dom. Rep. / Russia (+0.1% each) offset by a negative contribution from Peru (-0.2%). The meaningful decline in US Treasury yields over the past 13 weeks is starting to drag EM local bond yields lower, vindicating the strategy of substantially increasing the Fund's duration in April. Exposure to Peruvian local currency bonds was increased slightly with investment in longer dated bonds yielding over 6% per annum. The good performance from lower long rates in South Africa was used as an opportunity to lighten up on duration; sixty percent of the exposure to South Africa bonds was sold, which had the effect of reducing the Fund's overall duration by 0.5 from 6.2 to 5.7.

Currencies – The contribution from this area was -0.9%, with negative contributions from Indonesia (-0.3%), Colombia/India (-0.2% each), Chile/Peru/Czech/China (-0.1% each) offset by a positive contribution from South Africa (+0.2%). EM currency exposure was stable at around 94% with a meaningful exposure to commodity currencies (Chile, Colombia, Peru, Russia, Indonesia).

Cash – Exposure to short-dated US T-bills and cash increased from around 4% to around 10% of the Fund as a result of the sale of South African long dated bonds.

Global High Income Bond Fund

Important Notes

Note (1) – Asset Allocation

The Asset Allocation table provides an overview of the Fund's holdings by percentage of NAV, contribution to overall Fund duration, and non-US dollar currency exposure. Derivatives are included at notional value, except for options, whose exposure is delta-adjusted. Columns and rows might not add up to relevant totals due to rounding error. Source: 1167 Capital LLP.

Sov HC _____ Sovereign hard currency bonds – bonds issued by sovereigns/quasi-sovereigns and denominated in hard currencies such as US dollars, sterling and euro.
Sov LC _____ Sovereign local currency bonds – bonds issued by sovereigns/quasi-sovereigns and denominated in non-US dollar currencies.
Corp _____ Corporate bonds, issued in any currency.
Spd duration _____ Modified spread duration - the approximate percentage increase in an instrument's market value assuming a decrease of 100 basis points (bps) in its yield spread over an appropriate benchmark instrument.
IR duration _____ Modified interest rate duration – the approximate percentage increase in an instrument's market value assuming a decrease of 100 basis points (bps) in its maturity yield.
Bonds _____ Bonds and bond-related instruments denominated in non-US dollar currencies.
FX Instr _____ Currency instruments such as deliverable forwards, non-deliverable forwards and options.
JPM GBI-EM GD _____ JP Morgan Global Bond Index – Emerging Markets Global Diversified, an index of emerging market local currency sovereign bonds.

Note (2) - Performance

Fund performance is net of all fees, charges and expenses. Income earned and received by Accumulating share classes is automatically reinvested. Non-US dollar hedged share classes are hedged against movements in the dollar, hence their performance will reflect interest rate differentials (the cost of hedging) between the US dollar and the euro/sterling/krone. The performance of relevant reference indices is shown; JPM GBI-EM GD, is the JP Morgan Global Bond Index Emerging Markets Global Diversified, an index of emerging market local currency sovereign bonds. Source: Bloomberg. The Fund's valuation policy uses New York closing prices for bonds and bond-related instruments and 4pm London WM/Reuters rates for currencies.

Note (3) – Annualised Yield Measures

The "Anticipated Distribution Yield" is a forecast for the current calendar quarter and is not guaranteed. The Distribution Yield is the last 4 quarters' dividend payments on the A1 distributing shares divided by the current A1 clean price. The "Gross Income Yield" and "Gross Maturity Yield" are based on the Fund's current portfolio of assets, which can change regularly. Gross Income Yield is calculated as the weighted average gross income yield of all income-bearing instruments. The accretion to par of T-Bills, although not income-bearing, is also included. Gross Maturity Yield is calculated as the weighted average gross yield to maturity of all instruments, excluding FX instruments. The Fund's management fees and other charges and expenses are charged to capital which, other things being equal, causes an erosion of capital from the Fund. The size of these fees, charges and expenses is reflected in the Fund's ongoing charges figure (OCF) for the relevant share class – more details can be found in the relevant KIID. The Gross Income Yield and Gross Maturity Yield are gross of the OCF. Source: 1167 Capital LLP.

Note (4) – Active Share Measures

Active share is a measure of how far a fund's exposure deviates from a reference index. The Fund's active share is calculated by measuring deviations of the Fund's exposures to countries and investment categories (e.g. Sov HC, Sov LC) from those of the JP Morgan Global Bond Index Emerging Markets Global Diversified, an index of emerging market local currency sovereign bonds. Deviations at the instrument level are not measured. The Fund's active share is calculated separately for bond (and bond-related instruments such as bond futures) and currency exposure. The minimum value that the active share measure can have is 0% (in the case where the Fund's exposures are identical to those in the index). Traditionally, the maximum value that the active share measure can take is 100% but, as the Fund can use derivatives, the maximum value can be greater than 100%. Source: 1167 Capital LLP.

Note (5) – Credit Rating as % of NAV

Moody's and Standard & Poor's credit ratings, for each bond and bond-related instrument, are converted to a numerical scale, averaged, and then converted back to a credit rating on the Standard & Poor's scale. For derivatives, the credit rating of the underlying instrument is measured. Sources: Bloomberg for credit ratings, 1167 Capital LLP for calculations.

Note (6) – Value at Risk

The Fund employs an absolute Value at Risk (VaR) approach to determine the maximum global exposure that it can assume. The Fund's VaR as a percentage of the Net Asset Value (NAV) of the Fund must not exceed an absolute limit of 20%, measured using a 99% confidence level and a 20 business day horizon, as defined by the Central Bank of Ireland. Source: Northern Trust (using the StatPro Revolution platform).

Note (7) – Volatility and Tracking Error

Volatility is measured as the annualised (using a factor of 260) standard deviation of daily returns. For the Fund, the A2 share class since inception (7 December 2016) is used. The volatility of a reference index is shown; the JP Morgan Global Bond Index Emerging Markets Global Diversified, an index of emerging market local currency sovereign bonds. Tracking error is measured as the annualised standard deviation of the difference between the daily returns of the Fund's A" shares and of the reference index. Source: Bloomberg.

Performance Information and Risk Warnings

Any performance figures on this document refer to the past and past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. The base currency of the Fund is in US dollars (USD), and unless otherwise indicated, performance figures are calculated in USD. The return of investors in the Sterling (GBP) and Euro (EUR) classes may increase or decrease as a result of currency fluctuations.

The entire investment is at risk of loss. Values may fall as well as rise and investors may not get back the amount invested. Income from investments may fluctuate. Changes in rates of exchange may have an adverse effect on the value, price or income of investments. Sub-funds may be permitted to and may use leverage as an investment strategy. The effect of such leverage is that movements in the price of the Funds' shares will be more volatile than the movements in the prices of its underlying investments. Investors should be aware that investments in higher yielding bonds issued by borrowers with lower credit ratings may result in a greater risk of default and have a negative impact on income and capital value. Income payments may constitute a return of capital in whole or in part. Income may be achieved by foregoing future capital growth.

Fund charges may be applied in whole or part to capital, which may result in capital erosion. You should be aware of the additional risks associated with investment in emerging and developing markets. The prices of some investments may be extremely volatile. The Fund is not traded on an exchange or recognised market and in common with some of its investments may not be readily realisable during periods of severe market stress.
